About

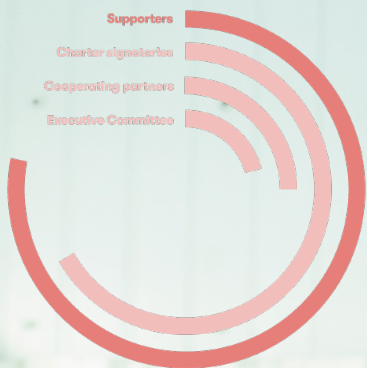

Circular Economy Switzerland (CES) is committed to promoting circular economy in Switzerland. Working closely with a wide range of private businesses and public organisations, our goal is to make the Swiss economy more circular through innovative solutions and creative initiatives. Circular Economy Switzerland aims to act as a focal point and a networking platform for circular economy, focusing on projects and events which could become a catalyst for a new, Swiss-wide movement.

Get involved

Circular Economy Switzerland (CES) is your chance to join the network and get involved in the movement to bring about a transition from a linear to a circular economic model. There are four ways for individuals and organisations to get involved with Circular Economy Switzerland (CES), each with its own benefits and advantages.

Get involved as a

Supporter

WHO

Anyone who is interested in circular economy and would like to know more about CES.

HOW

Allies can keep up to date with circular economy news by reading the Circular Economy Switzerland newsletter, or the digital edition "Circular Economy News".

What's in it for you

- Up-to-date information and news on Circular Economy Switzerland (CES)
- Circular economy news, delivered straight to your inbox every two weeks
- Information on upcoming events

What you have to do

- Have an interest in circular economy
- Subscribe to the CES newsletter
- Follow CES on LinkedIn

Get involved as a Charter Signatory

WHO

Organisations and people who are aligned with the values and goals of CES, who are active in the field of circular economy, and who sign the Circular Economy Switzerland Charter.

WHAT

Charter signatories are invited to the events and activities of Circular Economy Switzerland and are allowed to incorporate the Circular Economy Switzerland logo and claim in their own communications.

What's in it for you

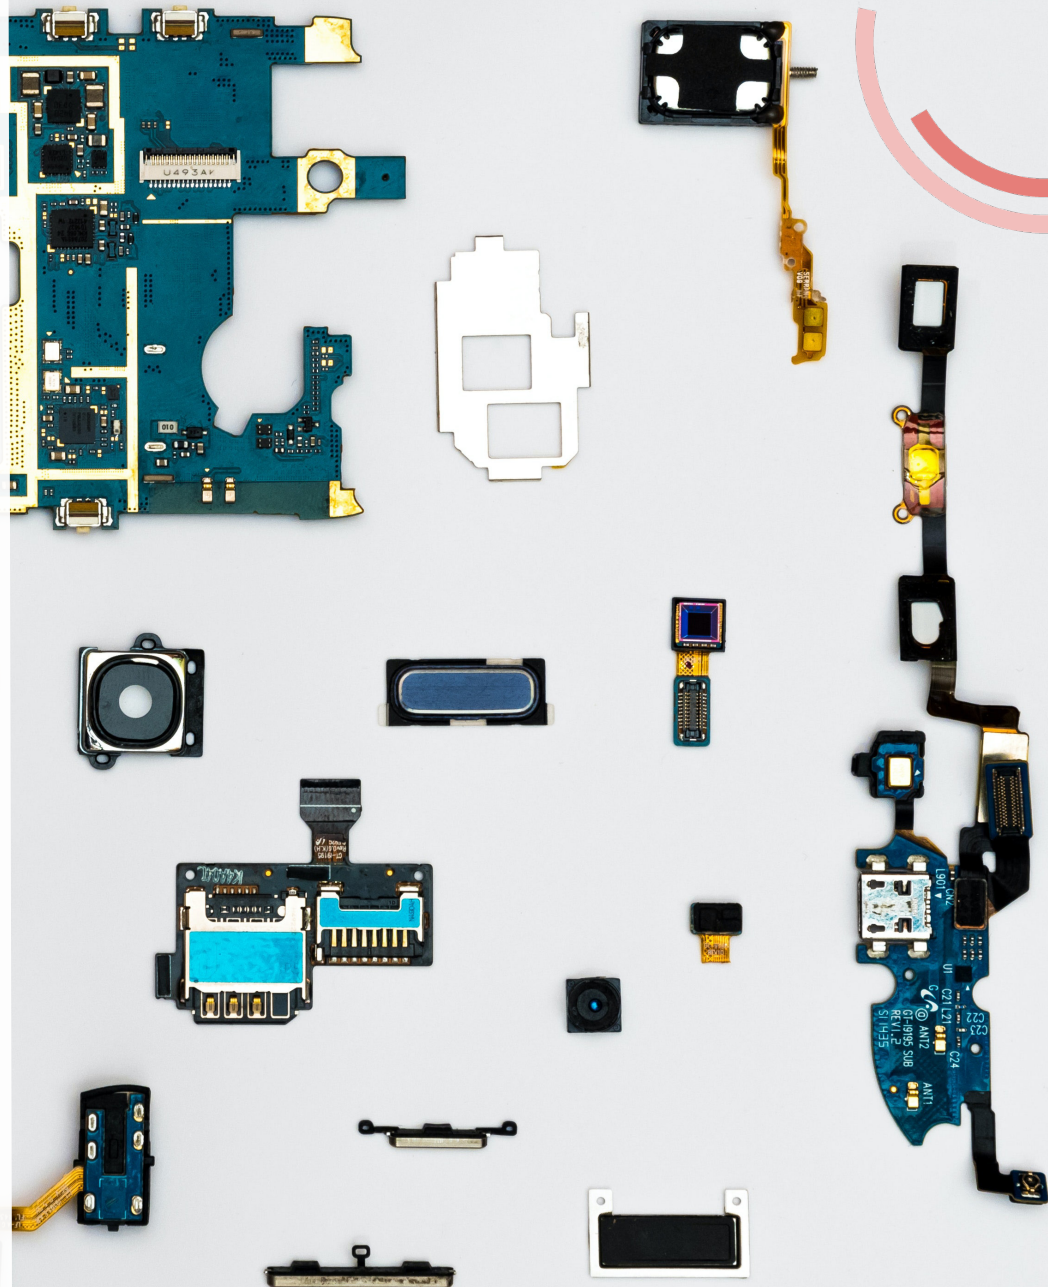

All the advantages enjoyed by CES allies, plus:

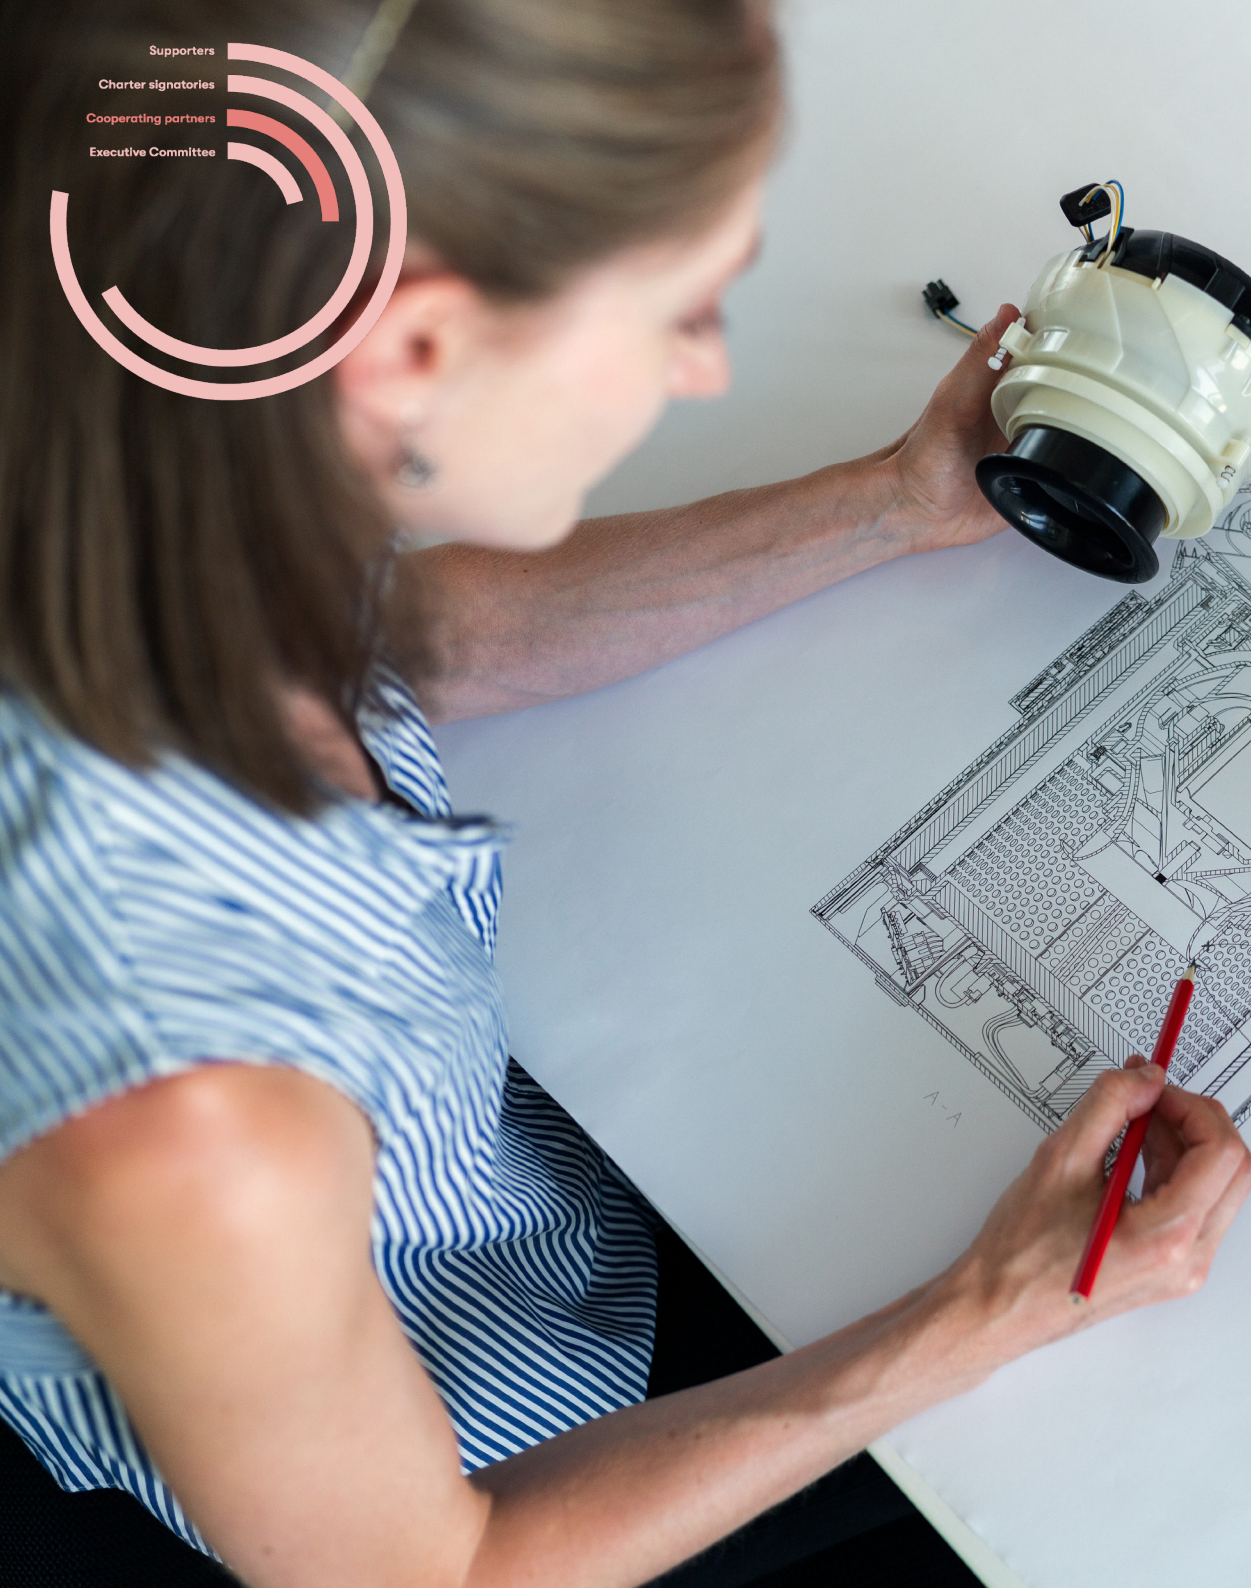

- Increased visibility through your incorporation in CES communications
- Access to our broad contact network
- Invitations to exclusive events
- Use of the CES logo and claim

What you have to do

- Sign the Charter

Get involved as a

Cooperating partner

WHO

People and organisations who have signed the Charter, who contribute to the work of CES and are actively involved in the circular economy movement. Their contribution can be financial or in-kind. If you are interested in getting involved as a Partner, you can apply to the Executive Committee, outlining your contribution to the work of CES. The Executive Committee decides whether to admit new partners.

WHAT

As a Cooperating Partner, you can participate in the annual CES General Assembly, and help decide and shape the movement's priorities. Additionally, you can use the logo and claim of Circular Economy Switzerland in your own communications. You automatically become a CES member, you get a vote, and help elect the Executive Committee.

What's in it for you

All the advantages enjoyed by CES Charter signatories, plus:

- You get to shape CES strategy
- You get to be more prominently featured in CES communications
- You become a CES member (with voting rights)
- You become eligible for the Executive Committee

What you have to do

- Sign the CES Charter
- Sign a CES cooperation agreement (financial or in-kind support)

Get involved in the Executive Committee

WHO

The Executive Committee is made up of five to eight Partners, who have signed the Charter and have each been elected by the General Assembly for a two-year mandate.

WHAT

Members of the Executive Committee have access to a broad network and can use the CES logo and claim by incorporating it in their own communications. The Executive Committee has the power to actively shape CES, as it develops, co-ordinates and implements CES strategy. It decides on the admission of potential new partners, elects the coordinating body and, together with it, represents CES.

What's in it for you

All the advantages of the CES Partners, plus:

- Direct access to our broad network
- The opportunity to shape CES strategy
- Regular dialogue and closer cooperation

What you have to do

- Sign the CES Charter
- Become a CES Partner
- Steer CES strategy through regular exchange with the Executive Committee

Applications and queries can be sent to the CES coordinating body or to individual members of the Executive Committee

Get in touch – we'd love to hear from you.
